Step Two: Becoming a Frankton Court Village Resident How do I secure a cottage?

Once you have decided you want a cottage, let us know.

We will then send the necessary documentation to you or your solicitor for evaluation and discussion.

Once a value is agreed for the right to occupy the cottage of your choice, you can sign the Occupation Right Agreement, witnessed by your Solicitor. You may also attach conditions to this agreement – such as successfully completing the sale of your existing home.

From this point the Retirement Villages Act 2003 provides a 15-working-day “cooling off” period where you can change your mind without penalty. Once all conditions are met you can move into your cottage and begin enjoying the Frankton Court Village lifestyle.

There is more information available, which goes into greater detail. We recommend you have your legal advisors look at this with you.

It's nice to have your own place

We all like to call somewhere our own, to put our own pictures on the sideboard and settle in. But the thought of mowing lawns, and all the other home maintenance tasks, can become a burden we'd rather leave behind.

That's the beauty of cottage living. You get your own home with the privacy and the freedom to keep living the way you want to, with added peace of mind.

Maintenance (whether fixing leaky taps or trimming shrubs) is professionally carried out for you, so you can sit back and enjoy your new home without having to do the work.

Designed for you

The cottages have been developed with older people in mind, with easy access and well-designed layouts. We know that making things easy to manage takes away so much worry. The cottages are very practical for everyday life. A perfect place to call your own.

You're not alone

We encourage independence, however there are likely to be times when extra help is needed. Perhaps it's just the knowledge that someone is there should you need them.

Feeling isolated can add stress. Here you know you have our support, yet you can still enjoy your freedom and privacy.

What exactly do you get?

If you decide you would like to purchase the right to occupy a Frankton Court Cottage, you will sign an Occupation Right Agreement with Presbyterian Support Southland Retirement Villages Limited, a wholly owned company of Presbyterian Support Southland, which gives you the right to live in your cottage and enjoy the services offered. There are a number of things that you need to know about this agreement and we recommend you discuss this with your lawyer.

Village Outgoings

This fee is your contribution to the recovery of costs incurred in the day-to-day operation of the village, including, but not limited to, gardening, building maintenance, insurance and the cost of routine maintenance services.

Care Services

This fee covers the cost of staff support.

Village Contributions

The Village Contribution is a payment in exchange for the supply of accommodation and community facilities during the life of your agreement.

When you terminate your Occupation Right Agreement, your agreement is then sold on the open market to a new resident. You will receive the sale price less the Village Contribution, which is based on the time that you have lived in the village. This contribution is 5% per year of the sale price of your Occupation Right Agreement (adjusted proportionately for part years) up to a maximum of 25%.
